Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Sept. 14.—United as never before in its history, the Republican party of Colorado is lined up for its great battle in November in the interest of law and liberty.

Governor James H. Peabody and the state ticket are nominated and have received the most splendid indorsement ever given political leaders in the west.

It was a great day for the Republicans of Colorado today. Though the occasion of the state convention of the Republican party, it had more than a political significance. Every delegate who attended the gathering in Denver today regarded it as a triumph of sound sentiment and a recognition of law and order. As Governor Peabody himself says, his nomination for a second term was an indorsement of law and order in Colorado rather than a personal compliment to the state executive. The supremacy of the law and its enforcement were set forth in every feature, and a more harmonious and enthusiastic convention has not been held by the party in Colorado.

While natural lines were drawn on account of the contest for the governorship, Roosevelt as the intelligent friend of the west," and an entire state ticket was nominated, the last of the convention centered in the nomination of Governor Peabody for a second term. He was given a splendid ovation, and in his speech of acceptance made a profound impression on delegates and spectators alike.

The convention was held in the Broadway theater, which was completely filled on the lower floor and upstairs with delegates and spectators. The decorations were elaborate, national colors being displayed on all sides. In front of the stage and overseen with portraits of President Roosevelt, Senator Fairbanks and Governor Peabody, the latter being placed between the presidential and vice presidential candidates. On the balcony railing facing these pictures were likenesses of Congressmen Bonynge, Brooks and Hogg. Flowers and potted plants were used in profusion and the boxes prettily trimmed with flowers and occupied by ladies.

The El Paso county delegation, numbering 42, occupied seats on the stage and took a prominent part in the proceedings of the convention. Miss Irene Wombert, chairman of this delegation, nominated the gubernatorial candidate.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CONVENTION

It was after 11 o'clock when the convention got down to business. Chairman Fairley called the big gathering to order and introduced Rev. F. F. Coyle, who pronounced the invocation. The minister gave thanks for men of firmness to lead the country forward in the time of political, industrial and commercial upheaval. "Lead us in our deliberations here so that the right candidates may be selected by this convention. Grant that thy blessing may rest upon us all," was the prayer of Dr. Coyle.

The band played Admiral, the delegates all rising. After the hymn was sung R. [illegible] Jr. stepped to the front of the stage and nominated Hon. Frank C. Goudy for temporary chairman. The audience that greeted mention of Mr. Goudy's name lasted several minutes, and only stopped when he began to address the convention.

Mr. Goudy's Speech.

Mr. Goudy's speech was the feature of the morning session.

Mr. Goudy said in part:

PROCEEDINGS OF CONVENTION

...judgment was taken till 2 o'clock this afternoon.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

When Chairman Goudy rapped for order this afternoon standing room in the theater was at a premium. It was an enthusiastic crowd and much cheering was indulged.

The report of the committees was the order of business. ... Farwell of Otero reported on organization and the rules and order of business. It was decided to make the temporary organization permanent. After this report was read Chairman Goudy took occasion to remind the convention that three years ago today the nation was overshadowed with grief over the death of President McKinley and he caused ... men's favorite hymn. The audience ... and remained standing while "Lead Kindly Light" was played. Senator Hawkins as chairman of the ... state ...

He stated that every county but Chaffee had been heard favoring a delegate at that county their explained that their credentials had been left with the chairman.

Demonstration for Peabody.

The next committee to report was that on resolutions. As Philip B. Stewart read the platform he was frequently interrupted by applause when Governor Peabody's name was mentioned the house broke into cheers and Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, the well known Republican orator and campaign worker, who occupied a box with a party of friends, attracted attention by waving a flag. Other women were handkerchiefs and a more enthusiastic greeting could not be imagined.

Every phase of the campaign touched upon in the resolutions was the signal for an outburst of applause and they were adopted by acclamation.

The selection of presidential electors was quickly disposed of. Hon. Irving Howbert, of Colorado Springs, said: "In behalf of the business interests of this state, I nominate for presidential electors, David H. Moffat, of Denver; Peter T. Gentry, of Delores; F. E. Stevens, of El Paso; Simon Guggenheim, of Denver, and J. C. Osgood, of Greenfield." A motion to make the nominations by acclamation created great ...

The nomination of a congressman at large was not without interest. Hon. J. W. Springer, of Denver, came upon the ... to receive the nomination for congressman at large of his friend Greeley W. Whitford, "one of the old guard of Denver."

Springer Roused Convention.

Mr. Springer's speech had an electrical effect on the convention. He was frequently interrupted, both by cheers and applause and many ... during its delivery. He closed by saying: "I shall return good for evil and vote for Mr. Moffat, for I believe he is a good man gone wrong."

Someone on the stage called out "Nominate yourself." To this disturbing remark, as he termed it, Mr. Springer replied: "If you had been in line with the Republican ticket May 2, I should have been mayor of Denver."

...last was said with considerable heat and raising his voice to a high pitch, so that it was heard above the cheers and remonstrances. Mr. Springer added:

"I want to say we will be found voting for everyone named by the Republicans this fall. My own personality cuts no figure. I want to sound a voice of warning to the Republicans and to others. It doesn't matter who is nominated—don't go out of the convention and knife your ticket!"

Mr. Springer closed his caustic remarks with the declaration:

"I want to say to Chairman Goudy and others who intend to do their duty, let us have no further personalities. When Mr. Springer sat down the resolutions were in great confusion. The reference to Chairman Goudy provoked both laughter and remonstrance. Mr. Goudy himself arose and made the statement that the time was in his family werewolf for Mr. Springer.

Mr. Brooks Nominated.

It was then in order for other nominations to be made for ... Judge Campbell of Arapahoe ... Congressman-at-Large E. ... Brooks to succeed himself. Judge Campbell said that he ... to state that Mr. Brooks had supported Mr. Springer's candidacy. Judge Campbell was on to endorse Congressman Brooks, speaking of his coming in Colorado in early life, because of ill health, his struggle against physical ills, his indomitable energy and perseverance and his later triumph.

Congressman Brooks' candidacy needs no defence, calls for no apology, and there is nothing to conceal about it, said Judge Campbell, who then referred to ... congressional record, speaking of what he had done for the agricultural counties of the state, and winding up with the occasion that ... Brooks' record ... in the house of Representatives Colorado would have men in congress for the interest of the country and the party.

By Acclamation.

James H. Brown, of Denver, seconded Congressman Brooks' nomination on behalf of the entire delegation from his county. Judge Miller, of Boulder, did the same, and from many parts of ... Huerfano, Fremont, Pueblo, Weld, El Paso and Otero being included in the list. At this juncture Mr. Springer said:

"I move, gentlemen, that we withdraw Whitford's name," and El Paso moves that Brooks' nomination be by acclamation.

All voted aye and Congressman Brooks was called to the stage.

Mr. Brooks' Speech.

In accepting the nomination, Congressman Brooks said in part:

"I would be more than human if I were not moved by this demonstration, nor would it mean to me I cannot express in mere words, but I shall try to make my ... commensurate with my ... My congress in this campaign is insignificant with the great issue that confronts this state. No campaign is to be compared with this in gravity. THURSDAY, SEPT. 15, 1904.

THE TICKET FOR COLORADO.

THE Republican party has nominated a ticket, with Governor James H. Peabody at its head, and confidently appeals to the voters of this state for approval and indorsement.

It has been a foregone conclusion for many months that the governor would be renominated. He deserves that encouragement at the hands of the party for his courageous course in protecting the lives and property in this state. The Republican party would have been unjust to itself and lacking in moral courage had it done aught else than renominate the governor.

Despite the attacks which are being made upon him by the Democratic Populistic and Socialistic elements of this state, as time goes on, the majority of the people of Colorado will undoubtedly conclude that the acts of Governor Peabody were wholly inspired by [illegible] the welfare of the citizens of the commonwealth.

The upholding of the law is a matter upon which all good citizens should differ, for it affects everyone vitally. It is just as important to the poor man as the rich man. When [illegible] take up arms and defy the law, the men who fall with their backs to protect these wage-earners that the governor ordered out the militia and took [illegible] to suppress the riots.

Let no working man be deceived. Let no man think that he or she family is safe from the attacks of the Anarchist. The same sort of men who committed the outrages in Cripple Creek are ready to undertake other crimes of which they are not guilty, the opportunity [illegible] is offered to them. They will rule or they will ruin. Merely to know their ill will is to be placed in danger.

Still important it is, therefore, to have at the head of the state a chief executive who knows no class, but simply does his duty toward every citizen of the commonwealth. Under the administration of James H. Peabody every man who wants to work is protected in his labor. Every man is permitted to enjoy the fruits of his labors. This is possible not only in Cripple Creek and Telluride, but in Colorado Springs and everywhere else. There is just one simple requirement, and that is this: every man obey the law. Unless the law is maintained and upheld, there [illegible] for that anarchy and chaos are no man is safe and free.

And hence that is why the Republican ticket stands for:

Equal rights for every man.
The enforcement of law and order.
The protection of property and developing.
The orderly liberty everywhere.

Upon this platform, presented in every village and [illegible] in this state, the Republican party confidently expects to win the day.

THE FIGURES FROM MAINE.

THE [illegible] are inclined to call their victory in Maine. But the facts, as usual, do not [illegible]. The plurality for governor is, to be sure, [illegible] than it was four years ago. But, on the other hand, it was greater than it was two years ago. Not only [illegible] the table of Republican majorities [illegible] the last twenty years, but that they [illegible] some thousands less than the plurality [illegible]

[illegible] Democrats were claiming that the vote would be less than 20,000. Gorman, in the New York Press, said: [illegible] more than it was two years ago [illegible] simply and conclusively [illegible]

Political Comment

THERE ARE OTHERS.

David B. Hill, of New York, has announced his final and irrevocable retirement from public life. Similar announcements have at various times in the past been issued by other famous persons—Mrs. Fiske and Professor Corbett for example. Thus we have come to realize the fact that radiant promise does not always lead up to actual fulfillment. Mr. Hill's announcement, therefore, while it may be accepted in good faith by the impulsive many, will [illegible] the judicious few as nothing more than a [illegible] Judge Parker of certain disquieting and injurious [illegible]

DEMOCRATS LACK TEAM WORK.

Mr. Bryan has made one speech in the west in support of Parker, though he did not withdraw anything he had previously said about the candidate. One of the things which he said—and he hired a hall to say it in—was as follows: "I believe that I can prove to every unbiased mind that Judge Parker is not a fit man to be nominated either by the Democratic party or by any other party that stands for honesty and fair dealing in politics. I am satisfied that we now have evidence sufficient to convict Judge Parker of [illegible] for the nomination." (Philadelphia Press.

THE RACE ISSUE A DEMOCRATIC BLUNDER.

Those Maryland Democrats who imagine they are doing a fine thing for their party in that state by pushing the race question to the front, perhaps know their Maryland [illegible] but they do not know the northern states very well. The more they assail the president on the line of a proposition that has been reported to be determining on the negro votes they will lose for candidate Parker in states which do not cherish their prejudices. It was before the war that a certain class of ignoramuses and sectionalists thought that they could prevent the growth of the Republican party by calling its members "black Republicans," and in the campaign of 1856 there was no end to the vulgar and false stories that were put in circulation regarding Fremont and the negro. It availed nothing.—(Boston Herald.

SHOW THEIR GOOD SENSE.

Democrats continue to announce their intention of voting for Mr. Roosevelt. George Haven Putnam, the New York publisher, is one of them. He says that "in the present unsatisfactory condition of Democratic leadership, and in connection with the influence of Roosevelt on the side of the more conservative and sensible elements of his own party, his election will be for the advantage of our country." There are no Democrats who will vote [illegible] who will not be [illegible] called back to their reason, and the latter class embraces a large number.—(N. Y. Press.

Cripple Creek, Sept. 14.—Nichols and associates who recently secured a lease on the Zoe property on Bennett hill have encountered in work on the ore body which was opened up by former lessees and a shipment will leave the property in the course of two days that will return very handsome profits.

In the adjoining property the Gold Links Consolidated the ore shoot at a depth of 485 feet has been worked up to the line of the Zoe where a very good grade of ore was taken out. From this point it shows the ore shoot dipping into the Zoe ground and Mr. Nichols now has one end of it. In the Zoe property the vein measures from four to six feet wide and a little high grade streak that is well known on this vein and while the ore body only has a very small territory yet it is believed that a little fortune will be taken out by Mr. Nichols and his partners.

One of the lessees on the Zoe who has only a small interest has been offered a sum over $5,000 for his interest in the lease which is the best evidence of what there is in sight and what other people think of the property.

SILVER SHIPMENT FROM RED SPRUCE.

FIRST INSTANCE IN HISTORY OF THE CRIPPLE CREEK DISTRICT.

ORE HAS BEEN SHIPPED FOR SILVER VALUES.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Sept. 14.—A consignment of ore different from anything that ever left the district before will be sent out from the Red Spruce property on Bennett hill tomorrow. The shipment will be silver. It will contain no trace of silver in the ton and the copper to gold in the ton.

The ore was broken in a vein that averages from one to two feet and although it was opened by Floyd Thompson, manager for the Red Spruce company, when the property was turned over to company account, development work was never pushed until recently, when Jacob Wilson and associates, residing in a number of the mines of the camp, took a little more interest in the property and the first result is the first return of values.

320D SHIPMENT FROM DEADWOOD VEIN.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Sept. 14.—Defenders of Fortune, operating the Fortune block 12 of the Strat-ton estate, located on the northeastern part of the camp, which give returns of 320 to the ton.

The lessees are working in two places at the present time. The encouraging encouragement that left the property today comes from a new point of operations. Work was recently started in the Deadwood vein, which is known as the Deadwood vein, which is 2 feet of ore, from sulfide, the lessees commenced work on what is known as the Deadwood vein. This ore shoot carries a very rich core, which former operators broke and stripped out, leaving the sides of the ore body where the present lessees are now mining down the ore that was left, making a good production, which returns a very fair quality of ore.

FLYING CLOUD LESSEES OPEN UP GOOD ORE

Cripple Creek, Sept. 14.—Renshaw and associates, who recently secured a lease on the Flying Cloud on Bull hill, have opened three feet of ore that returns values of $30 to $40 to the ton. The ore was encountered a short distance from the shaft at a depth of 80 feet. The lessees are now figuring on going to the bottom of the shaft, some 1,000 feet, and driving for the newfound vein, thus obtaining [illegible] at the present time. The ore is [illegible] the extension of the Flying Cloud shoot, which gave up a small fortune a few years ago. A shipment [illegible] property today and, another one is scheduled for the latter part of the week.

DANA TRIBUTE TO THE GOOD ORDER OF THE CAMP

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek Sept. 14.—A. L. Dana, a pioneer in the camp, who was at one time partner of Bob Womack, and was one of the first locators of a claim in the district, was a visitor in the district today. Mr. Dana came up from his home at Rockvale near Colorado Springs, with the intention of starting an assay office, but from his conversation it is believed he found that line of business very much overdone. He denounces in the strongest terms those who are picturing Cripple Creek as in lawless district and even that is now a mining camp where there is no little of crime and drunkenness as in Cripple Creek at present.

WORK OF LESSEES IS BRINGING GOOD RETURNS

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Sept. 14.—Russell & Sharp are making a great success of their leasing operations in the district, notably among their leases being the Lenawee and a block of the El Paso consolidated and a block of the [illegible] they are about to commence sinking the shaft located on [illegible] each of these properties.

From the Lenawee a carload of ore a day is sent out which returns average values of $30 to the ton, and another from the Colorado Boss which returns values from two to three ounces to the ton.

On these two properties along the lessees are now employing 200 men and have enough ore in sight to last them at the present rate of production until their leases expires.

times got down to nominating a ticket.

One Contest.

There was only one contest, that being for the office of sheriff. Clyde L. Barrett scared on the wings of prophecy as he nominated Andy Adams, "the author candidate for sheriff," and Capt. John M. Jamison tried to eclipse Mr. Barrett's efforts in nominating Frank Smith. Ralph Tuttle was nominated very simply. Adams won on the first ballot. The other nominations were all by acclamation, Reeves Ady being the first. He had Judge Gunnell as his sponsor and the judge made an energetic speech for Mr. Ady.

The chairman and secretary of the central committee and Judge McKeehan were made the committee on vacancies. This committee has to find a candidate for coroner, as there was none presented to the convention and this office was allowed to go by default yesterday.

Following the county convention, the Colorado Springs delegation met and nominated candidates for justice of the peace and constable.

The county central committee met immediately after and re-elected W. E. Doyle chairman, giving him power to appoint his own secretary.

The following delegates were chosen to the different conventions:

GOOD SHOW OF STRENGTH

WHOLE MARKET MOVED STRONGLY UPWARD. PRACTICALLY CONTINUOUSLY EXCEPT FOR OCCASIONAL INTERVALS.

New York, Sept. 14.—There was but momentary hesitation against some of the granger stocks at the opening today. This was partly shaken off and the whole market moved strongly upward. The reading of the tape during the day showed the rise to be steadier and less disturbed than any time during the movement. Offerings to take [illegible] seemed to be lighter than before and the bears made no apparent attempt to contest the advance.

In fact, they were assisting it by their efforts to cover short contracts and were too much intimidated by the persistent strength of the market to attempt renewed opposition. Thus freed from obstacles the upward course of prices was practically continuous except for occasional intervals, when the buying movement seemed to spend its force. At several times the activity and [illegible] movement came to a standstill or suffered trivial reactions instead of the feverish fluctuations of occasions made in the previous advance, due to the rush to take profits by nervous speculators. Today's movement also lacked the constant irregularity which had been caused by the heavy profit taking in one part of the list, while rapid advances were forced on other stocks, so characteristic of the market for many days.

Intensive, although uneven. The drouth in the grain markets was a sensible depressing element and the news from the corn belt showed that the frost area did not exceed [illegible] feared yesterday. Urgent buying orders for the grangers from western sources made it evident that yesterday's selling from that quarter had been overdone. Today's principal show of strength was in stocks most closely associated with the iron and steel trade. United States Steel preferred took the leadership of the movement.

There was [illegible] covering by [illegible] shorts in the grangers in the late market. Time money was active and strong.

Bonds were strong. Total sales, par value, $1,150,000.

United States bonds were unchanged.

WHEAT CLOSED WEAK AND LOWER

SUDDEN SPURT IN CORN PRICES CAUSED A SLIGHT ADVANCE, BUT HEAVY WEAKENING SET FOLLOWED.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—At the opening the wheat market experienced much weakness, initial quotations on December being off ½@¾c and May was down from ½@¾c to ¾@1c. The principal factor was the indifference of European grain markets, and from the start the market was subjected to heavy realizing sales. The weakness of the grain markets at Minneapolis tended to bring out increased offerings. Before the end of the first hour prices had dropped to a point almost 2 cents below last night's close, December declining to $1.15. May sold off to $1.18¾. On a sudden spurt in corn prices there was renewed purchasing of wheat, aided by small primary receipts and an active cash demand. December advanced to $1.18¾, [illegible] to $1.21. During the last half hour the market weakened rapidly under heavy realizing sales. December closed 2c lower at $1.16. May closed with a net loss of 1½@2c, $1.20½.

Corn was weak early. Later in the day the market suddenly turned strong, but eased off again near the close. December closed [illegible] lower at 55½c.

Very little wheat was sold to arrive. December closed [illegible] lower at 55½c.

Small receipts of hogs and higher prices at the yards imparted a firm undertone to the provision market. At the close January pork was up 15c, lard and ribs were each up 2½@5c.

ABSCESS.

W. H. Harrison, Cleveland, Miss., writes, Aug. 15, 1903: "I want to say a word of praise for Ballard's Snow Liniment. I stepped on a nail, which caused the cords in my knee to contract and an abscess to rise in my knee, and the doctor told me that I would have a stiff leg, so one day I went to J. F. Lord's drug store (who is now in Denver, Colo). He recommended a bottle of Snow Liniment: I got a 50c size, and it cured my leg. It is the best liniment in the world.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

The above was copied from an ancient obelisk near Karnak, Egypt. No one knows its meaning.

Every man ought to know the meaning of the symptoms of nervous debility.

It's a serious matter when the strength of mankind fails. A overwork or business worries sap all energy, unnecessary weakness and the busy brain begins to decay.

PALMO LAXATIVE

restores all elements necessary to vitalize the system.

They create boundless energy, firm muscles, a clear, bright brain and perfect strength.
